

Strategies of transformation and prevention of borderline conflicts in Ukraine

www.peace.in.ua

Strategies of transformation and prevention of borderline conflicts in Ukraine developed by joint task forces of local activists and local authorities

Main types of conflicts we address

- · Identity conflicts
- Conflicts based on ethnicity or religion
- Conflicts of different versions of history
- Conflicts of visions of the (common) future

Our mission

Prevention and transformation of violent conflicts in Ukraine

Our Main Objective Is To Unite Ukraine

"I am Bulgarian, I am Polish, I am Russian, I am Jew, etc." With the central biggest slogan - "I am a citizen of Ukraine"

We study the history and social psychology of divides in Europe and Ukraine

We have launched an ongoing historical dialogue about the definition of facts of national and local history and support an active discussion about the interpretations of these facts in social memory.

We focus on the history of development and the advancement of local governance in the region of eastern Ukraine, known as Slobozhanshchyna, as a highly relevant model for acquiring a peaceful solution to the crisis in the Donbas.

We Do Not Want a Divided Future for Ukraine!

Integration of Internally Displaced Persons into Local Communities

Happy IDPs and locals in Mukacheve after the discussion of joint social projects (the most western point of the project)

War in Ukraine resulted in nearly 2 million displaced persons.

Displacement could be a tragedy and could be an opportunity. We are creating opportunities.

Administrative reform in Ukraine creates tensions that could evolve into serious conflicts.

We are drafting an extensive communication strategy aimed to establish, maintain and develop relations between groups of activists, journalists, public servants, schoolchildren and teachers from different regions of Ukraine

A key component of the strategy is the broad inclusion of citizens into discussions and drafting strategies for local and regional development as a necessary precondition to decentralization. Building a Common Vision of Community-Specific Models of Local Governance

The book based on proceedings from a scientific conference "Local administration in Donbas" held on 20 March 2015, in Krasnoarmijsk focuses on historical experiences of community building in the region. 35 scientists from 5 regions of Ukraine contributed.

To enhance people's safety and the rule of law, local civil-military administrations were established in the anti-terrorist operation zone, facilitated by expert social intermediaries. The draft of the law for this was prepared within the project framework.

The main tasks of these administrations are to resolve problems experienced by the local population and accelerate the development of local communities. Civil-military administrations work closely with commanders of Army and National Guard units, local Ukrainian activists and religious leaders from different religious communities.

The strategy and tactic of these administrations requires broad inclusion of citizens into maintenance of security and safety within their communities. The strategy foresees a paradigm shift from police as repressive body to a community service model and creation of a new image of the police. The main indicator of success would be substantial increase of citizens' trust of the police.
